

ELSBERG FIGHTS TRACTION PLOT IN THE SENATE

But Rapid-Transit Bill, with Grady Killer Nullifying It, Is Passed.

(Special to The Evening World.) ALBANY, March 28.—The fight to reconsider the vote by which the Senate passed the Grady amendment to the Elsbberg Rapid Transit bill, preventing competition in future subways and securing the control of the Ryan-Belmont traction trust of the transportation facilities of New York, was begun in the Senate to-day by Senator Elsbberg asking the Senate to reject the amendment.

Elsberg in opening said: "The impression that public organizations differ as to their views on the Rapid Transit bill is wrong. They all oppose the Grady amendment. The City Club the other night adopted unanimously a resolution against it. There is no public opposition to the bill itself. "The only persons now interested in carrying the Grady amendment are the railroad corporations, which already have the people at their mercy. The conditions existing in New York are shocking and disgraceful. "The Grady amendment took the very vitals out of the bill and made it practically useless."

His Own, Says Grady. Senator Grady insisted that the Rapid Transit Commission was in favor of his amendment, and he read from a letter of George L. Rives, counsel for the commission, to prove it.

"Mr. Rives," retorted Senator Elsbberg, "told me that the portion of the bill which was stricken out was a mere stump speech and did not mean anything. The Grady amendment, he charged, originated with one of the counsel of Ryan's Interborough Company, so as to make their grip on the throats of the people more secure. "It came," he repeated, "from the attorneys of the railroad. Every one of the routes meet the requirements of the bill which was stricken out. Are these routes to be abandoned or changed? Don't deliver us over body and soul to Ryan and Belmont until we have seen whether anybody will compete with them for constructing subways. We want to know whether the people are really at the mercy of the merged corporation. This is the case of the railroads against the people. I am on the people's side, and I insist that the line shall be drawn clearly."

Plotters Win. Mr. Elsbberg charged that the Rapid Transit Commission had refused to take any side on the measure. "I don't care what the Rapid Transit Commission did about anything," retorted Grady. "I am concerned only about the manner in which the Senate was deceived about the original bill. "That is because the Senator did not want to understand," said Elsbberg. "I would like to ask him if his amendment did not come from the attorneys of the railway company." "No," said Grady. "It is mine." Senator Marks urged the restoration of the Elsbberg bill to its original form. Senator White also favored the motion to restore the measure to its original form.

Senator Cooper, of Brooklyn, whose flop on the bill caused its emasculation, entered into a long-winded explanation of his views, attempting to justify his act by stating that the bill would delay real rapid transit. He made so pitiable an exhibition that Grady came to his rescue and made his speech for him, a spectacle at which the other Senators laughed. It was the first time in years that a Senator was compelled to permit an associate to make his speech for him.

If Senators Stevens and Quinn had been in their seats when the vote was reconsidered was taken the vote would have been 25 to 25, and the deciding vote would have been cast by Lieut.-Gov. Bruce. It is believed that the Lieut.-Governor would have voted to save the bill. The vote on the passage of the bill with the Grady amendment, nullifies the provisions of the bill as far as the No. 28 line is concerned.

"38" More Fateful than "23" for This Hapless Man.

A man who registered in the fifteen-cent lodging house at No. 268 Bowery as George Brown last night blew out his brains in his room this a.m. when he had 38 cents in his clothing, occupied room No. 28 and shot himself with a .38 calibre revolver.

Snap for Early Buyers.

Remnants of OIL CLOTH at 13c per yard THURSDAY MORNING Many of Them 50c Values.

To make room for our 1906 stock of Oil Cloth and a recent importation of Chinese and Japanese Mattings we sacrifice all our Oil Cloth remnants at 13c per yard. Fine line of Go-Carts up from $2.75 Furniture, Carpets, Rugs, &c. Convenient Payments. McCLAIN SIMPSON & CO Popular Home Furnishers, 539-41 8th Ave., Northwest Cor. 37th St. Open Saturday Evenings Till 10.

SENATE PASSES FIRST INSURANCE BILL AFTER FIGHT

Provides for Reorganization of New York Life and Mutual.

(Special to The Evening World.) ALBANY, March 28.—The Senate this afternoon by a unanimous vote passed the first bill of the Special Insurance Investigating Committee, which would postpone until Nov. 15 the annual elections of the New York Life, Mutual of New York, Mutual Reserve of New York, and Security Mutual, of Birmingham; would terminate on that date the tenure of office of all the present directors and trustees of the companies, and nullify all proxies executed prior to Sept. 15 next.

The bill goes now to the Assembly for concurrence. The anticipated opposition to the measure appeared as soon as the terms of the bill were read. Senator Malby, the chairman of the Finance Committee, began the assault by counselling caution in branding men as unfit to hold office.

"Does the Senator mean to say that he thinks a director or trustee who has permitted hundreds of thousands of dollars of policyholders' money to be used in the debauching the public life is fit to hold his office?" asked Senator Brackett, rushing to the defense of the bill.

Break by Malby. "No, but I don't think we should condemn every man now holding office with a life insurance company. If we did the only living ex-President of the United States and the presiding Judge of the Appellate Division would be branded as being a thief," retorted Malby.

"The Senator does not know what he is talking about," retorted Senator Brackett. "Neither Mr. Cleveland nor Judge O'Brien is a director or trustee of a mutual company, and therefore, does not, come within the scope of this bill," said Senator Brackett.

Malby, proceeding, said that he did not want to be hounded by public criticism. He said he would vote for the bill if the insurance bills and might decide as the bills were reached. Senator Brackett following in support of the bill declared that the question of whether Mr. Cleveland, Judge O'Brien or Paul Morton should be removed, but if any man who as trustee or director of an insurance company had permitted the squandering of the money of the policyholders of insurance companies, should be entrusted with the managing of their money in the future. "Because these objections are side issues," he added, "because they do not mean anything. We have to settle upon one thing. It is that our duty points straight one way, the rescue of the policyholders' money from the control of the men who have proved their unfitness to be trusted again."

Why Skip Equitable?

Senator Armstrong, the chairman of the insurance committee, in favoring the bill, said that there were but four companies affected by the bill—two this year and two next year. Those which will reorganize this year under the present bill are the Mutual and New York Life.

He said, "I will compel a reorganization of these last two companies this year. The insurance committee deemed it wise to reserve this change on account of the developments before it. The other reforms will come from time to time."

Senator Marks asked: "Why did not the committee prepare reforms regarding the other companies, whether mutual or not, which will bring about reform? The management of the Equitable Life has been shown to be as bad as that of the New York Life or the Mutual. Why is the same sort of organization permitted in them, the same methods?"

"The Senator should know that the insurance committee has or will propose reforms when they are needed," replied Senator Armstrong.

"Then you will have a bill recommending reforms in the management of the Equitable and other companies needing it," asked Senator Marks.

New Deal with New Cards. "I do not care to state what the future plans of the committee may be," replied Senator Armstrong. "The question is on the present measure. If we do not pass it, the same body of trustees which for a generation have dominated these companies will perpetuate their hold by proxies, gathered by their agents, who in spite of the present legislation, are still splendidly organized."

If you pass this bill all proxies which have been gathered by these agents prior to Sept. 15 will be void and ineffective. We are going to have a new deal with a new deck of cards. That is the purpose of this bill.

"We want to give these people who have been robbed of their money for a great many years time to prepare to organize in such a way as to give them a voice in the selection of the men to whom will be entrusted the management of the companies."

Senator Marks again asked why the committee had not provided for the reform of every life insurance company, whether mutual or not. He criticized the committee for its secrecy as to its plans regarding the Equitable.

Senator Armstrong in reply said that the committee had not finally determined what reform it would recommend, and other companies not touched by the bill.

When there will be a bill covering those companies?" asked Senator Brackett. The response: the committee will determine.

The bill was then put up for final passage. Senator Malby after his fight against the measure fell in line and voted for it, saying that he regretted to do so, but bowed to public opinion.

BROOKLYN YOUNGSTERS IN WILD WEST HOLD-UP

At Point of Pistol Schoolmates Rob Son of Former County Clerk Kaufmann.

Charged with holding up and robbing their schoolmate, four boys of Public School No. 44 were before Justice Fleming in the Brooklyn Children's Court this afternoon.

The boys are from thirteen to fourteen years old. They are Louis Normander, of No. 1717 Gates avenue; John McCue, of No. 664 Gates avenue; and Frank and John Ratigan, of No. 727 Gates avenue. The complainant was Victor Kaufmann, fourteen years old, a son of ex-County Clerk Kaufmann, of No. 512 Jefferson avenue.

The Kaufmann boy said that as he was returning from school last night he was set upon by the other boys. He said one of them held a pistol to his head while two others took away his watch and went through his pockets. The affair attracted a big crowd of children and Detective Ahern, who was passing, saw the crowd and chased the offenders. He caught Frank Ratigan, who told the names of the others. In court John Ratigan was let go, as it was shown that he had no hand in the hold-up. The others were sent to the Disciplinary Training School until April 3, when a disposition will be made of their cases.

WHOLE FAMILY IN MORTAL FEAR OF BLACK HAND

Callanos Put Iron Bars on Windows and Hire a Bodyguard

The entire Bronx Detective Bureau is searching for the "Black Hand" gang that for a month has been endeavoring to blackmail Carmine Callano, one of the wealthiest grocers in the Bronx, who has a store at No. 948 Courtlandt avenue.

Callano and his family have been in fear of their lives for weeks. Heavy bars and shutters have been put up before the store, and Callano himself never dares to go out without a bodyguard. The blackmailers have threatened to blow his house up and murder him and his family at the first opportunity.

It was a month ago that the wealthy grocer received the first warning. Written on fine paper, and in a graceful hand it demanded $500, and declared that if Callano told the police or failed to deliver the money he would be killed as surely as the sun shines. The money was to be left under a big boulder at the corner of One Hundred and Seventy-first street and Old Broadway. The stone would be marked with a letter "A." The letter was signed "The Kelleys."

Got Another Warning. Callano paid no attention to the threat and on March 14 resolved another warning. This time he became frightened. He has a large family and a prosperous business and he began to brood over the danger. He was afraid to go to the police. His family were panic-stricken when they learned of the threats, and Callano employed a guard when he went out on the streets.

On the 26th there came another letter. This one told him that he would be killed despite the precautions he had taken. The letter told him this was his last chance. Unless he left the money that night he would not live through the week. The night Callano, with his son and son-in-law, went to the corner with $500, which he had drawn from the bank, that was his last chance. There was a policeman on the corner and Callano was afraid to leave the money. The next day he went to the Detective Bureau and told the whole story to Capt. Price.

Detectives Hilk and Capobianco, the Italian sleuths, were put on the case and, together with Capt. Price, have been on the trail ever since. They believe that the men who have been sending the letters are members of the notorious Paul Kelley gang, that has a branch in the Bronx.

Boasted in a Saloon. Some weeks ago Callano went into a saloon and while he was drinking several men came in and joined him. He became confidential and told of his success and prosperity. He did not know who they were, but a week later he received the first letter. He has given their description to the police and they are looking over the blackmailing crooks of the city, in the hope of locating them.

Callano is frightened to the verge of desperation. His wife and children are afraid to go out of the house. This is the first attempt at blackmail that has come to the attention of the police of the Bronx in several months. For a while the "Black Hand" was very active, but was driven out by the men under Capt. Price.

Will Get Ideas in Foreign Hospitals

Health Board Expert to Study Tuberculosis Treatment Abroad for City's Use.

The Board of Health adopted a resolution to-day providing for an investigation by a medical officer of the department of the various important tuberculosis hospitals in Europe, so as to apply their best features to a sanatorium for tuberculous patients, which is to be erected at Oisville, N. Y., by the city.

The subject of municipal water filtration will also be investigated by the officials detailed for the trip.

QUICK RELIEF FOR EAST SIDE URGED

State Railroad Commission Decides Better Street Car Service Must Be Given.

The Board of Railroad Commissioners, after an examination of the traffic conditions of the lower east side of Manhattan, have made the following recommendations:

That the Courtlandt street line, from Courtlandt Street Ferry to Grand Street Ferry; the Chambers and Grand street lines, the Grand and Desborough street line, and the East Broadway line, between Canal and Chatham Square, be equipped for electric cars, and that this be provided.

"We further recommend that work be begun on these absolutely necessary improvements at the earliest possible date," says the Commissioner.

Knocked Girl Down TO STEAL ONE CENT.

Meanest Highwayman Captured After Chase Following His Brutal Robbery.

Accused of holding up on the street and robbing a thirteen-year-old girl of one cent, which she clutched in her hand, Michael Tette, sixteen years old, of No. 226 East Ninety-seventh street, was arraigned in Harlem Police Court to-day on a charge of assault and robbery.

The complainant was Priscilla Summers, of No. 23 East Ninety-sixth street. She left her home last night to buy candy.

At the corner of Second avenue, she says, Tette grabbed her by the throat and tried to force open her hand and secure the cent.

The girl fought back and the two rolled on the sidewalk. Her strength gave way and her palm opened. The boy grabbed the cent and took to his heels.

Patrolman Donohue caught Michael Tette.

WOMAN TRIES SUICIDE BY LEAP OUT WINDOW.

Mrs. Nanette Watterson, Ill, Discouraged Because Her Friends Did Not Call.

Mrs. Nanette Watterson, who was in at a boarding-house at No. 31 Danforth avenue, Jersey City, expected relatives to call last night and remove her to a sanitarium. Several times she asked the nurse if any of her relatives had been there.

No one called, and it is supposed she became discouraged. Early to-day while the nurse was absent from the room, the woman ran to the window and jumped to the street below. She was found lying on the sidewalk unconscious.

An ambulance was summoned from the City Hospital and the surgeon who responded said the woman's ankles were both broken and that in all probability she had sustained internal injuries. She was hurried to the hospital.

WHOLE FAMILY IN MORTAL FEAR OF BLACK HAND

Callanos Put Iron Bars on Windows and Hire a Bodyguard

The entire Bronx Detective Bureau is searching for the "Black Hand" gang that for a month has been endeavoring to blackmail Carmine Callano, one of the wealthiest grocers in the Bronx, who has a store at No. 948 Courtlandt avenue.

Callano and his family have been in fear of their lives for weeks. Heavy bars and shutters have been put up before the store, and Callano himself never dares to go out without a bodyguard. The blackmailers have threatened to blow his house up and murder him and his family at the first opportunity.

It was a month ago that the wealthy grocer received the first warning. Written on fine paper, and in a graceful hand it demanded $500, and declared that if Callano told the police or failed to deliver the money he would be killed as surely as the sun shines. The money was to be left under a big boulder at the corner of One Hundred and Seventy-first street and Old Broadway. The stone would be marked with a letter "A." The letter was signed "The Kelleys."

Got Another Warning. Callano paid no attention to the threat and on March 14 resolved another warning. This time he became frightened. He has a large family and a prosperous business and he began to brood over the danger. He was afraid to go to the police. His family were panic-stricken when they learned of the threats, and Callano employed a guard when he went out on the streets.

On the 26th there came another letter. This one told him that he would be killed despite the precautions he had taken. The letter told him this was his last chance. Unless he left the money that night he would not live through the week. The night Callano, with his son and son-in-law, went to the corner with $500, which he had drawn from the bank, that was his last chance. There was a policeman on the corner and Callano was afraid to leave the money. The next day he went to the Detective Bureau and told the whole story to Capt. Price.

Detectives Hilk and Capobianco, the Italian sleuths, were put on the case and, together with Capt. Price, have been on the trail ever since. They believe that the men who have been sending the letters are members of the notorious Paul Kelley gang, that has a branch in the Bronx.

Boasted in a Saloon. Some weeks ago Callano went into a saloon and while he was drinking several men came in and joined him. He became confidential and told of his success and prosperity. He did not know who they were, but a week later he received the first letter. He has given their description to the police and they are looking over the blackmailing crooks of the city, in the hope of locating them.

Callano is frightened to the verge of desperation. His wife and children are afraid to go out of the house. This is the first attempt at blackmail that has come to the attention of the police of the Bronx in several months. For a while the "Black Hand" was very active, but was driven out by the men under Capt. Price.

Will Get Ideas in Foreign Hospitals

Health Board Expert to Study Tuberculosis Treatment Abroad for City's Use.

The Board of Health adopted a resolution to-day providing for an investigation by a medical officer of the department of the various important tuberculosis hospitals in Europe, so as to apply their best features to a sanatorium for tuberculous patients, which is to be erected at Oisville, N. Y., by the city.

The subject of municipal water filtration will also be investigated by the officials detailed for the trip.

Knocked Girl Down TO STEAL ONE CENT.

Meanest Highwayman Captured After Chase Following His Brutal Robbery.

Accused of holding up on the street and robbing a thirteen-year-old girl of one cent, which she clutched in her hand, Michael Tette, sixteen years old, of No. 226 East Ninety-seventh street, was arraigned in Harlem Police Court to-day on a charge of assault and robbery.

The complainant was Priscilla Summers, of No. 23 East Ninety-sixth street. She left her home last night to buy candy.

At the corner of Second avenue, she says, Tette grabbed her by the throat and tried to force open her hand and secure the cent.

The girl fought back and the two rolled on the sidewalk. Her strength gave way and her palm opened. The boy grabbed the cent and took to his heels.

Patrolman Donohue caught Michael Tette.

WOMAN TRIES SUICIDE BY LEAP OUT WINDOW.

Mrs. Nanette Watterson, Ill, Discouraged Because Her Friends Did Not Call.

Mrs. Nanette Watterson, who was in at a boarding-house at No. 31 Danforth avenue, Jersey City, expected relatives to call last night and remove her to a sanitarium. Several times she asked the nurse if any of her relatives had been there.

No one called, and it is supposed she became discouraged. Early to-day while the nurse was absent from the room, the woman ran to the window and jumped to the street below. She was found lying on the sidewalk unconscious.

An ambulance was summoned from the City Hospital and the surgeon who responded said the woman's ankles were both broken and that in all probability she had sustained internal injuries. She was hurried to the hospital.

Doctors Baffled

Mrs. H. Larson, who was run down and whose case baffled the skill of doctors, is restored to complete health and strength by Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey.

"I lost weight, was tired and listless, and no medicine helped me until I took Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey," this lady, whose heart is filled with gratitude, writes.

"For some time I have suffered from a general rundown condition, which baffled the skill of all my doctors. I lost weight rapidly, was tired and listless, and no medicine helped me until I began to take Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey. I am now on my tenth bottle, and feel better than I have in a number of years past. I know that I am cured, and I want to thank you for it."—Mrs. H. Larson, 203 Pleasant av., Montgomery, Ala., Nov. 14, 1905.

CAUTION.—Be careful to get the genuine when you ask for Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey. Sold in sealed bottles only; never in bulk. Look for the trade-mark, the "Old Chemist," on the label, and be sure the seal over the cork is unbroken. All reliable druggists and grocers, or direct, $1.00 a bottle. Doctor's advice and medical booklet free. Duffy Malt Whiskey Co., Rochester, N. Y.

because of its remarkable healing and curative powers and its extraordinary record of cures, covering a period of more than fifty years, is prescribed by doctors and used by over two thousand leading hospitals as the greatest tonic-nourishing tonic-stimulant and health-builder known to medicine. Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey cures coughs, colds, consumption, grip, bronchitis and pneumonia. It stimulates and enriches the blood, aids digestion, builds up the nerve system, tones up the heart and fortifies the system. Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey contains no fusel oil, and is the only whiskey that has been recognized as a medicine. This is a guarantee.

CAUTION.—Be careful to get the genuine when you ask for Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey. Sold in sealed bottles only; never in bulk. Look for the trade-mark, the "Old Chemist," on the label, and be sure the seal over the cork is unbroken. All reliable druggists and grocers, or direct, $1.00 a bottle. Doctor's advice and medical booklet free. Duffy Malt Whiskey Co., Rochester, N. Y.

Brill Brothers

Cravenette Raincoat Sale

$15 Cravenette Raincoats Custom Tailored Worsteds and Thibets at $10

$16.50 & $18 Cravenette Raincoats Hand Tailored Worsteds and Thibets at $12.50

$20 Cravenette Raincoats Journeyman Tailored Worsteds & Thibets at $15

Every garment 1906 model. Every fabric 1906 shade and woven expressly for raincoats. The raincoat opportunity of the season. Don't miss it. Garments on sale to-day. All Brill stores.

Get the Habit. Go to Brill Brothers

UNION SQUARE 279 Broadway, nr. Chambers, 47 Cortlandt St., nr. Greenwich, 14th St., near Broadway, 123rd St., cor. Third Ave.

WHOLE FAMILY IN MORTAL FEAR OF BLACK HAND

Callanos Put Iron Bars on Windows and Hire a Bodyguard

The entire Bronx Detective Bureau is searching for the "Black Hand" gang that for a month has been endeavoring to blackmail Carmine Callano, one of the wealthiest grocers in the Bronx, who has a store at No. 948 Courtlandt avenue.

Callano and his family have been in fear of their lives for weeks. Heavy bars and shutters have been put up before the store, and Callano himself never dares to go out without a bodyguard. The blackmailers have threatened to blow his house up and murder him and his family at the first opportunity.

It was a month ago that the wealthy grocer received the first warning. Written on fine paper, and in a graceful hand it demanded $500, and declared that if Callano told the police or failed to deliver the money he would be killed as surely as the sun shines. The money was to be left under a big boulder at the corner of One Hundred and Seventy-first street and Old Broadway. The stone would be marked with a letter "A." The letter was signed "The Kelleys."

Got Another Warning. Callano paid no attention to the threat and on March 14 resolved another warning. This time he became frightened. He has a large family and a prosperous business and he began to brood over the danger. He was afraid to go to the police. His family were panic-stricken when they learned of the threats, and Callano employed a guard when he went out on the streets.

On the 26th there came another letter. This one told him that he would be killed despite the precautions he had taken. The letter told him this was his last chance. Unless he left the money that night he would not live through the week. The night Callano, with his son and son-in-law, went to the corner with $500, which he had drawn from the bank, that was his last chance. There was a policeman on the corner and Callano was afraid to leave the money. The next day he went to the Detective Bureau and told the whole story to Capt. Price.

Detectives Hilk and Capobianco, the Italian sleuths, were put on the case and, together with Capt. Price, have been on the trail ever since. They believe that the men who have been sending the letters are members of the notorious Paul Kelley gang, that has a branch in the Bronx.

Boasted in a Saloon. Some weeks ago Callano went into a saloon and while he was drinking several men came in and joined him. He became confidential and told of his success and prosperity. He did not know who they were, but a week later he received the first letter. He has given their description to the police and they are looking over the blackmailing crooks of the city, in the hope of locating them.

Callano is frightened to the verge of desperation. His wife and children are afraid to go out of the house. This is the first attempt at blackmail that has come to the attention of the police of the Bronx in several months. For a while the "Black Hand" was very active, but was driven out by the men under Capt. Price.

Will Get Ideas in Foreign Hospitals

Health Board Expert to Study Tuberculosis Treatment Abroad for City's Use.

The Board of Health adopted a resolution to-day providing for an investigation by a medical officer of the department of the various important tuberculosis hospitals in Europe, so as to apply their best features to a sanatorium for tuberculous patients, which is to be erected at Oisville, N. Y., by the city.

The subject of municipal water filtration will also be investigated by the officials detailed for the trip.

Knocked Girl Down TO STEAL ONE CENT.

Meanest Highwayman Captured After Chase Following His Brutal Robbery.

Accused of holding up on the street and robbing a thirteen-year-old girl of one cent, which she clutched in her hand, Michael Tette, sixteen years old, of No. 226 East Ninety-seventh street, was arraigned in Harlem Police Court to-day on a charge of assault and robbery.

The complainant was Priscilla Summers, of No. 23 East Ninety-sixth street. She left her home last night to buy candy.

At the corner of Second avenue, she says, Tette grabbed her by the throat and tried to force open her hand and secure the cent.

The girl fought back and the two rolled on the sidewalk. Her strength gave way and her palm opened. The boy grabbed the cent and took to his heels.

Patrolman Donohue caught Michael Tette.

WOMAN TRIES SUICIDE BY LEAP OUT WINDOW.

Mrs. Nanette Watterson, Ill, Discouraged Because Her Friends Did Not Call.

Mrs. Nanette Watterson, who was in at a boarding-house at No. 31 Danforth avenue, Jersey City, expected relatives to call last night and remove her to a sanitarium. Several times she asked the nurse if any of her relatives had been there.

No one called, and it is supposed she became discouraged. Early to-day while the nurse was absent from the room, the woman ran to the window and jumped to the street below. She was found lying on the sidewalk unconscious.

An ambulance was summoned from the City Hospital and the surgeon who responded said the woman's ankles were both broken and that in all probability she had sustained internal injuries. She was hurried to the hospital.

Doctors Baffled

Mrs. H. Larson, who was run down and whose case baffled the skill of doctors, is restored to complete health and strength by Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey.

"I lost weight, was tired and listless, and no medicine helped me until I took Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey," this lady, whose heart is filled with gratitude, writes.

"For some time I have suffered from a general rundown condition, which baffled the skill of all my doctors. I lost weight rapidly, was tired and listless, and no medicine helped me until I began to take Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey. I am now on my tenth bottle, and feel better than I have in a number of years past. I know that I am cured, and I want to thank you for it."—Mrs. H. Larson, 203 Pleasant av., Montgomery, Ala., Nov. 14, 1905.

CAUTION.—Be careful to get the genuine when you ask for Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey. Sold in sealed bottles only; never in bulk. Look for the trade-mark, the "Old Chemist," on the label, and be sure the seal over the cork is unbroken. All reliable druggists and grocers, or direct, $1.00 a bottle. Doctor's advice and medical booklet free. Duffy Malt Whiskey Co., Rochester, N. Y.

because of its remarkable healing and curative powers and its extraordinary record of cures, covering a period of more than fifty years, is prescribed by doctors and used by over two thousand leading hospitals as the greatest tonic-nourishing tonic-stimulant and health-builder known to medicine. Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey cures coughs, colds, consumption, grip, bronchitis and pneumonia. It stimulates and enriches the blood, aids digestion, builds up the nerve system, tones up the heart and fortifies the system. Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey contains no fus